Spotlight

Dear Mr. Ernie Lazar:

This is in further response to your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request to this office for records pertaining to Spotlight (a newspaper). This is also in reference to our letter to you dated June 29, 1999.

As we explained in our letter of June 29, some of the records responsive to your request required a review to determine the current classification status. That review has now been completed.

Enclosed are 18 documents, totaling 33 pages, from our files. Excisions have been made on the enclosed pages and five additional documents, totaling 10 pages, have been withheld in their entirety to protect material exempt from disclosure pursuant to the following subsections of Title 5, United States Code, Section 552 (Freedom of Information Act):

- (b) (1) (A) specifically authorized under criteria established by an Executive order to be kept secret in the interest of national defense or foreign policy and (B) are in fact properly classified pursuant to such Executive order;
- (b) (2) related solely to the internal personnel rules and practices of an agency;
- (b) (7) records or information compiled for law enforcement purposes, but only to the extent that the production of such law enforcement records or information

On November 12, 1994, a search pursuant to a warrant of the residence of [REDACTED] resulted in the seizure of several items of evidence including military uniforms, patches, and insignias, a computer and floppy disks, laminating equipment and supplies, a paper cutter, photographs, a video tape, framed certificates, business cards, express mail and Federal Express receipts, a six digit numerical stamper, newsletters, pamphlets, catalogs, and various other documents and correspondence relating to the UNITED STATES SPECIAL FIELD FORCES (USSFF). Contained within these items was information regarding names, addresses and ranks of individuals who are members of USSFF. The following information has been gathered from the seized items.

Dear Mr. Ryan:

Senator Jeremiah Denton has forwarded a copy of your July 27th letter to him to the FBI, and it has been referred to me for reply.

The incident involving the destruction of the office of the Institute for Historical Review in Torrance, California, has previously been brought to our attention. A review of the information provided concerning this matter revealed no Federal violation within the investigative authority of the FBI. Since this matter may be of interest to another Government agency, I am forwarding a copy of your communication to the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms for its information.

In addition, there are provisions whereby the telephone company can take steps with regard to harassing telephone calls which could result in Federal involvement. You may wish to notify your telephone company regarding such calls and your local law enforcement officials regarding any threats you receive.

Sincerely yours,

Oliver B. Revell

The Hon. Jeremiah Denton
Chairman, Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Security and Terrorism
198-RSOB/Russell Senate Office Bldg.
Washington, D.C. 20010

Dear Mr. Chairman:

The Institute for Historical Review, a scholarly revisionist historical society, was firebombed and completely destroyed in a heinous act of terrorism on July 4th. The IHR was founded by Willis Carto, for whom I have worked for the last four years as a legislative aide to Liberty Lobby and reporter for the weekly newspaper, The SPOTLIGHT. Mr. Carto founded both Liberty Lobby and The SPOTLIGHT.

Since the IHR bombing, there have been telephone calls made to Liberty Lobby and SPOTLIGHT staffers, threatening their lives and warning that their office building will be destroyed. (The offices are located several blocks from the U.S. Capitol on the House side.) I myself received a phone call on July 18th at 3:30 a.m., awakening me from my sleep, telling me Mr. Carto had been shot and killed in an ambush by the Jewish Defense League and that SPOTLIGHT staffers were next. I was so upset I could not get back to sleep and did not learn until the next morning that the call was a crank,

I am writing to implore you to, in your capacity as subcommittee chairman, take the following actions:

1. meet with me to enable me to further brief you on the IHR bombing and these ongoing terrorist threats;
2. investigate and hold hearings on the IHR bombing and possible future terrorist acts against Liberty Lobby/SPOTLIGHT employees and property;
3. ensure that the FBI does all it can to capture and swiftly prosecute the terrorists responsible for the IHR bombing and continuing threats;
4. Publicly denounce the IHR bombing and continued threats.

I met with [REDACTED] and spoke with [REDACTED] of your subcommittee July 18th, briefing them and leaving articles on the IHR bombing with [REDACTED] and your appointment secretary, [REDACTED]. I would also like to meet with your subcommittee chief counsel, [REDACTED].

The IHR was a non-profit educational foundation dedicated to the investigation of the true causes and nature of war and was under attack for one of its controversial theories, namely, that the accepted version of the Jewish holocaust in World War II is greatly exaggerated in order to foster support for the state of Israel. In my experience lobbying Congress the last three years, I am fully aware of the tremendous power of the Israeli lobby. Members of Congress know the political consequences of denouncing, or even publicly discussing the strength of this lobby, and are intimidated into staying silent. Those who have spoken out have paid a high price. Although many times privately comments in this regard were made to me, only one member of Congress has ever had the courage to go on the record (former congressman Pete McCloskey).

I have noticed that hearings before your subcommittee always exclude mention of terrorist acts committed by the JDL or the Mossad, Israel's secret service agency. It is indicative of the double standard or bias toward Israel that is leading the United States into another possible world war--this time in the Middle East.

I am calling your sense of decency for fairness, and justice for all Americans, Mr. Chairman, as manifested in your experience as a prisoner of war fighting for the values of America, to have the political courage to follow through on this request from me to you.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]

rial, a loss he estimated at $300,000.

"My reaction is one of dismay and disillusionment," said Marcellus. "Especially on the Fourth of July, this kind of spells the end of the First Amendment in this country. We're a publisher, we're considered press and we've been gutted by people who disagree with our views."

The fire caused damage not only to the institute's Noontide Press office but to several adjacent suites where other businesses are located.

"We're caught in the middle," said Karen Rockwell, who with her husband, Jack, owns and operates Rockwell Medical Supply Inc.

The Rockwells' company manager estimated $130,000 worth of inventory was lost as a result of fire, smoke and water damage.

Jack Rockwell said he called Rubin after the fire was extinguished and said, "If you have anything to do with this, I'd just like to thank you for putting me out of business."

"I don't understand these hate groups, I really don't," his wife said.

"For the record, we had nothing to do with it," Rubin told a small group of reporters, police and merchants Friday.

Then he handed out a press release stating, "The Jewish Defense League wholeheartedly applauds the recent devastation of the offices of the Institute of Historical Review."

The real culprit, said Rubin, is a man named Larry Winston. Rubin said Winston joined the JDL in 1979 using the name Joel Cohen and became intimately involved, eventually joining the board of directors.

Rubin said he not only came to consider Winston a friend, but asked him to be the godfather of Rubin's child. He said Winston, on several occasions, urged JDL members to commit violent acts to discredit the Institute.

In May, the JDL filed a $1.5 million lawsuit against the city of Los Angeles in connection with the alleged infiltration.

"On numerous occasions during his 3½ years of undercover work," says the suit, "Winston advocated and encouraged JDL members, including Rubin, to attack the offices of the Institute of Historical Review in Torrance."

Rubin said the LAPD denies that anyone by the name of Larry Winston is an officer for the department. An LAPD spokesman said Friday that no such officer exists.

Said Rubin: "I believe, with all my heart, that he (Winston) had something to do with this."

JDL leader Irv Rubin says infiltrator set institute fire.

JDL applauds blaze at Torrance institute

Gregg Zoroya, Torrance police, noting that Rubin produced no supporting evidence, said they would "evaluate" his information and "investigate (it) if necessary." "There is no factual information... It's all based on opinions at this point," said Sgt. Harold Maestr.

Fire investigators, although still conducting tests, speculate the blaze may have been started by a Molotov cocktail hurled at the building, at 2539 W. 237th St., or by some other form of ignited gasoline. The fire was reported at 12:19 a.m.

Tom Marcellus, managing director of the institute, said the fire destroyed 80 percent of the organization's publishing material.

Arsonists hit Institute for Historical Review office

By Bob Jones
Staff writer

Arsonists ignited a gasoline fire early Wednesday that gutted the Torrance office of the Institute for Historical Review, an organization that claims the genocide of Jews in World War II was a hoax, fire authorities said.

Headquarters of the institute — alleged by Jews and others to be part of a national neo-Nazi campaign of anti-Semitism and racism — was destroyed by the blaze apparently touched off by someone who hurled a Molotov cocktail or doused the building with gasoline and set it afire, said police Lt. Jim Pabst.

The fire at Noon tide Press, 2539 W. 237th St., was reported at 12:10 a.m., said Battalion Chief Harlan Treskes. No people were in the building when the blaze started.

The controversial institute had been the target of periodic vandalism and protests, as well as a multimillion-dollar lawsuit brought by a concentration camp survivor in 1981.

Flames were shooting through the wooden roof of the one-story, concrete slab building when four engine companies and two truck companies with 29 firefighters arrived, Treskes said.

One firefighter suffered minor injuries fighting the blaze, which was brought under control in about an hour. He was back on the job today.

A police arson report said the fire appears to have started at the front of the building and that a melted substance of unknown composition was found nearby.

The fire in the approximately 30-by-100-foot office also led to "considerable" heat and water damage in a medical supply store and light smoke damage in a fire store that are in suites adjacent Noon tide Press, Treskes said.

Damage to the institute and its two adjacent businesses is estimated at $400,000.

A city skip loader carted many damaged books out through a large rear door at the burned out office and piled them in two stacks about 10-feet high, 50-feet long and 15-feet wide in a parking lot.

Treskes said an investigation of the fire is under way.

On April 23, 1982, police went to the Noon tide Press office about 1 a.m. to investigate a silent alarm that had gone off and found a crack in a front window and a fire inside.

Officers broke the window and put out the fire.

Police said a flammable liquid had been splashed on the front door and sidewalk. Officers also found several rounds of ammunition.

Controversial facility target of vandalism and lawsuit

Firefighters also said they found a crude explosive device apparently made of gun shells.

Shortly after the bombing, an unidentified male called several local news agencies to claim responsibility.

"We have just bombed the Institute for Historical Review," the voice said. "We are the Jewish Defenders. Shalom."

Authorities said that fire only scorched some papers and a mimeograph machine.

In 1981, Mel Mermelstein, 58, a Long Beach businessman and concentration camp survivor who founded the Auschwitz Study Foundation, filed a $17 million lawsuit against the Institute for Historical Review, claiming it reaped on a $50,000 reward offered to anyone who could prove the Holocaust ever took place.

Mermelstein listed his proof as declarations from 13 eyewitnesses from Auschwitz as well as gas crystals, human hair and ashes of cremated prisoners he said were recovered from the camp.

The institute contended Mermelstein wasn't able to come up with the type of proof it demanded — evidence that would be acceptable in a U.S. criminal court.

Most historians estimate that at least 6 million Jews and others were executed in gas chambers built by the Nazis in World War II.

In 1983, Willis Carto, a former Rancho Palos Verdes resident and founder of the institute, filed a federal lawsuit seeking $4.3 million in damages from Mermelstein and his former attorney, William Cox, claiming they conspired to destroy his reputation and harm his family.

Part of Mermelstein's suit ended about two years ago when a Los Angeles Superior Court judge took judicial notice of the fact Jews were gassed at Auschwitz.

The remaining portions of Mermelstein's suit concerning breach of contract and damages is still pending.

Carto's suit, filed in U.S. District Court in Washington, D.C., claims Cox and Mermelstein aligned themselves with three "illegal" foreign agents — the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, the Jewish Defense League and Mosad, the Israeli intelligence service.

Carto, who has been treasurer of the ultraconservative Liberty Lobby, alleges the groups and Mermelstein planned a "false, scurrilous and melodramatic attack" to brand him and his supporters as criminals, Nazis and racists.

Late in 1983, an attorney representing Cox and Mermelstein said they were preparing motions to have Carto's lawsuit dismissed.

547 Dirksen Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Denton:

The professional torching and total destruction of the California based Institute for Historical Review on July 4 was one of the most shocking acts of terrorism to date in this country.

So far the media, with the sole exception of The SPOTLIGHT, has seen fit to give this outrageous crime only passing mention, if any at all, and has mounted no campaign urging Congress and the executive to investigate it.

Even more frightening has been the fall out of this attack in the form of threatening telephone calls to The SPOTLIGHT, its staff and its associates. Callers have warned us to watch for acts of terrorism against our property and our persons.

I therefore urge you to investigate this terrorist activity immediately before more property is destroyed and possibly even some lives are lost.

My staff and I are at your disposal at your earliest convenience.

Sincerely,

[redacted] that he is employed [redacted] the Laborers International Union of North America (LIUNA) and that he is familiar with [redacted] Special Agent [redacted] informed [redacted] that he was a special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and was contacting him regarding any information he may possess concerning an allegation of possible obstruction of justice. SA [redacted] advised [redacted] he was not the subject of this investigation and was being contacted solely as a witness. [redacted] furnished the following information:

[redacted] that he had spoken [redacted] on the telephone either Thursday (June 24, 1982) or Friday (June 25, 1982) regarding a conversation [redacted] had with a reporter. [redacted] was telephonically contacted by [redacted] a reporter for The Spotlight, a weekly newspaper published in WDC. [redacted] an alleged bribery of a juror in the LIUNA trial which on that date (June 24 or 25, 1982) was deliberating the evidence as it pertained to three of the original 11 defendants. [redacted] was confused as to the sex of the reported bribed juror. She was to be recontacted [redacted] to clear up her confusion regarding the sex of the juror. [redacted] that the juror reportedly received $200,000 and was to receive a bonus when the three defendants were acquitted. [redacted] told him that [redacted] a total of five defendants were to be acquitted. [redacted] that he informed [redacted] had heard something like that in the street.

[redacted] that he is familiar with the name [redacted] and believes that he has been telephonically contacted on several occasions by [redacted] in an attempt to solicit information [redacted] regarding articles written by [redacted] concerning the LIUNA. Powell stated that he has
